

DATA PROTECTION TRAINING

Practical data protection awareness for modern business

OVERVIEW

Data Protection Training is an engaging on-demand programme that helps accountants, business leaders and staff understand how personal information should be handled, protected and governed. Using clear explanations, realistic examples and a documentary-style approach, the course breaks down the General Data Protection Regulation into simple, practical detail. It covers privacy risks, individual rights, organisational responsibilities, lawful processing, privacy by design, incident response and breach reporting. Each episode ends with a short test to reinforce learning.

8 EPISODES

1

Introduction to Privacy

Why privacy matters, how personal data is used, and the risks of surveillance, identity theft and loss of trust.

5

Responsibilities

The duties of organisations, controllers, processors, oversight roles and employees in protecting personal data.

2

Your Rights

Access, correction, deletion, restriction, portability, objection and protection from unfair automated decisions.

6

Data Protection in Action

Governance, lawful processing, privacy by design, records, retention, risk assessment and practical compliance.

3

Legal Landscape

What privacy law covers, why the General Data Protection Regulation matters, and what counts as personal data.

7

Breaches

How incidents happen, how to respond, contain, assess, report and recover.

4

The Principles

Lawfulness, fairness, transparency, purpose limitation, minimisation, accuracy, retention, security and accountability.

8

Scams & Data Theft

Phishing, fake surveys, social engineering and targeted deception used to harvest personal and business data.

8 on-demand video episodes

practical business-focused learning

clear documentary-style training